What is a Grinder?

The term Grinder can be traced back to the Eastern Region of the United States. Italian immigrants worked in the shipyards setting and "grinding" rivets in the huge ships. Their wives would come at noon with lunch for the men who worked down the line with freshly baked bread filled with meats and cheeses. The foreman or person in charge would then yell "Grinders—Lunch" and all the men would sit, eat and talk with their wives. Hence the word "Grinder" became known as the delectable combination of meats, cheeses, and vegetables served on our one of a kind freshly made oven-baked bread. The tradition has continued in the Triangle. Here at Rudino's, we pile on the meat, vegetables, and cheeses. Every grinder is served on bread made from scratch on site daily. We hope you enjoy your meal!
